Notino has chosen SAVOYE to equip its new Main Distribution Center in Telgate, Italy, to support its rapid growth in the strategic Southern European market. Founded in 2004, Notino set out to make beauty more accessible across Europe and today counts 24 million satisfied customers.

Jaroslav Rehurek from Notino explains, "Southern Europe is a strategic market for Notino, which is why we decided to invest in a new distribution center. We found in SAVOYE the right partner... which confirms the strong synergy between Notino and SAVOYE." Through this collaboration, Notino hopes to strengthen its position as a leader in the e-commerce beauty products sector.

The project began a year ago with the installation of an automated system that allows for the processing of thousands of beauty product orders. SAVOYE previously supported Notino with a packaging line in its first center in Brno, helping to establish a strong and trusting relationship between the two companies. This strategic partnership is essential for Notino, which aims to provide an exceptional customer experience.

Massimo Cecchinato, General Manager of SAVOYE Italy, noted, "We successfully completed a very ambitious project in a very short timeframe... speed and precision in order processing make the difference." This automation aims to optimize logistical efficiency, which is crucial for meeting Notino's growing demand.

Additionally, SAVOYE has integrated eco-friendly packaging solutions into the process. These machines help reduce shipment volume and CO2 emissions, addressing environmental concerns. Massimo Cecchinato emphasizes the importance of this approach, stating that "customers need speed, simplicity, and functionality." Thus, this initiative not only enhances service quality but also contributes to a reduced ecological footprint.

This ambitious and collaborative project illustrates the commitment of Notino and SAVOYE to innovate and grow in an ever-evolving sector.
